NETWORK2026 PRESIDENT'S LETTER

FORWARD TOGETHER

NETWORK continues to be the place where our industry's leaders come together to align, engage, and move forward. In a time of rapid change, this year's theme, Forward Together, reflects the shared commitment across our supply chain to strengthen partnerships, navigate uncertainty, and build what's next.

Each year, NETWORK brings together the industry's top decision-makers—CEOs, presidents, and senior leaders—representing the companies shaping the future of the PHCP and PVF industry. Last year's NETWORK welcomed the largest concentration of CEOs in the event's history, and with an even stronger program planned for Las Vegas, we expect an even more dynamic group of leaders to gather in one place. You won't want to miss it.

The value of NETWORK is not just in the programs that are offered, but in the conversations, relationships, and shared perspectives that come from having the right people in the room. The level of insight and connection at NETWORK is unmatched, making it the premier all-industry mega event.

We are pleased to welcome keynote speakers Kevin O'Leary, star of ABC's Shark Tank and serial entrepreneur, venture capitalist, and investor, as well as Erin Andrews, FOX Sports correspondent and former co-host of Dancing with the Stars. In addition to these dynamic voices, this year's program is focused on delivering practical insight and real-world application. Attendees will gain perspective on the economic outlook, explore advancements in AI and digital transformation, and engage in peer-to-peer discussions on the most pressing challenges and opportunities facing our industry. From mainstage sessions to targeted roundtables and structured networking, every element is designed to ensure your time away from the office is well spent.

For the first time, ASA is introducing the Innovation Summit at NETWORK, an exclusive add-on experience taking place immediately prior to NETWORK. Designed for leaders and their teams focused on technology and transformation, the Summit offers a deeper dive into emerging tools, digital strategies, and what's next for our industry—setting the stage for the conversations that continue throughout NETWORK.

NETWORK is more than a conference—it is where direction is set, relationships are strengthened, and leaders come together to move the industry forward.

We look forward to seeing you in Las Vegas.

AIM/R Principal's Reception

PAC Fundraising Event

ASA's PAC Fundraising is critical for engaging in meaningful advocacy and influencing policy decisions that impact the PHCP-PVF industry. By participating, you gain a platform to share your perspectives, that will educate Capitol Hill on key priorities and help build industry

6 - 7 p.m.

NETWORK2026 Opening Reception

Join us for the official kickoff of NETWORK at our Opening Reception. This is the perfect opportunity to meet fellow attendees, reconnect with colleagues, and start building valuable connections.

Whether you're a first-time attendee or a returning participant, the reception offers a welcoming environment to engage in meaningful conversations and set the tone for the days ahead.

Don't miss this chance to expand your network, share insights, and get energized for the exciting sessions and discussions to come.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 11

2 - 3 p.m.

NEW THE PEOPLE ADVANTAGE: WHAT'S REALLY HAPPENING INSIDE OUR WORKFORCE ROUNDTABLE SESSIONS

A C-Suite best practices roundtable conversation on attracting, developing, and unlocking the performance of your people.

Across our industry, leaders are focused on attracting and retaining talent to drive growth, but many are also facing a harder truth: we have good people, yet we're not consistently unlocking the level of performance and potential we know is possible.

In this C-Suite best practices roundtable session, we will move beyond theory to explore what is really happening inside our organizations today. Through facilitated peer discussions, executives will share where they see gaps, what is working, and where leadership, development, and culture are either driving performance or holding it back.

This session is designed to surface real C-Suite insights, practical strategies, and a clearer path to strengthening your company's people advantage in an increasingly competitive environment.

Open to distributor, manufacturer and manufacturer rep leadership.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 11

3 - 5 p.m.

WHOLESALE-DISTRIBUTOR & VENDOR CONFERENCE APPOINTMENTS

The Wholesaler-Distributor and Vendor Conference Appointments is a highlight among NETWORK attendees. With close to 70 vendors participating, this event offers an excellent opportunity for wholesaler-distributors to engage with vendors within their buying group, as well as connect with manufacturers outside of it.

Our wholesaler-distributor members have encouraged ASA to elevate this highly regarded event by inviting CEOs, Presidents, and Chairpersons from participating manufacturer companies to be present during the conference appointments and actively engage in the discussions.

With NETWORK being one of the largest gatherings of C-Suite professionals in our industry, their active participation in the conference appointments will elevate the value of this dynamic face-to-face event.

The conference appointments are open to all registered wholesaler-distributors and participating vendors. Over the course of two hours, you'll have the chance to participate in ten 12-minute sessions, maximizing your time and business connections. Information on appointment scheduling will be sent in October.

The Future of Work: Strategies to Connect, Work, and Lead Effectively Across Remote (and Hybrid) Teams

Speaker: Ryan Jenkins

The future of work is being reshaped by remote environments, rapid technology, and an always-on culture that is weakening human connection. As new generations enter the workforce, especially Gen Z, traditional ways of working and leading are becoming less effective and even counterproductive. Today's workplace demands a new approach that prioritizes meaningful connection to drive engagement and performance.

Drawing on years of leadership consulting and research, Ryan Jenkins explores the root causes of workplace disconnection and offers practical strategies to build stronger relationships across remote and hybrid teams. Attendees will gain insights into emerging workplace trends, learn how to stay relevant as leaders, and discover real-world examples of organizations adapting successfully. The session also equips participants with tools and confidence to foster connection and lead effectively in the evolving world of work.

Top 5 Reasons That You and Your Team Should Be At The Summit

Fellow ASA Members,

Distribution is entering a period of accelerated technological change. Artificial intelligence, digitization, and automation are operational realities shaping how distributors compete, serve customers, and manage performance.

The ASA Innovation Summit was created to provide a focused forum for executive leaders and their technical teams to examine these developments in a practical context. This program highlights how innovation is being implemented inside ASA-member company businesses today.

Over two days, you will hear from industry experts and practitioners working at the intersection of strategy and execution. You will also participate in structured roundtable discussions with peers facing similar decisions around technology adoption, data readiness, and operational transformation.

Our objective is clear: provide insight and direction so innovation inside your business is disciplined, intentional, and aligned to long-term growth.

We look forward to your participation.

Sincerely,
Michael Maloney
Chairman, Embracing the Future Strategic Council

Chad Foster

Opening Keynote Innovation and the Future of Distribution

Chad E. Foster is a Harvard-educated executive and technology innovator who built CRM software widely considered impossible after losing his sight at age 21. He now works with leadership teams on resilience, accountability, and performance in periods of disruption.

Spencer X. Smith

Digitization & Customer Intelligence
Building Customer Intelligence as a Core Distribution Capability

Spencer X. Smith is an emerging technology consultant who began his career at IBM and later served as a financial services VP selling into B2B distribution channels. He helps senior leaders translate CRM, data, and AI into durable operating capability through clear sequencing and governance.

Steve Lerch

Applied AI for Distributors
From Experimentation to Execution

Steve Lerch is a former Google executive and digital strategy advisor to major brands. He works with organizations to translate artificial intelligence and digital transformation into practical, operational value.

...Plus

Robotics & Automation In Distribution

A candid discussion with distributors and technology partners actively deploying robotics in warehouse and operational environments. The panel will focus on implementation sequencing, capital considerations, workforce impact, and measurable operational outcomes.

This session is designed to move beyond theory and examine what adoption looks like in practice.

Innovation In Practice: Best Practices & Shared Challenges

Facilitated peer discussions focused on applied innovation inside organizations.

Topics include AI adoption, customer intelligence development, operational modernization, workforce adaptation, and change governance.

Leaders will exchange practical insight and leave with clearer next steps for their organizations.

Why Attend This Summit?

Jeremy Fuller
Texas Plumbing Supply

"This event creates space for discussion about where and how tech delivers measurable value in distribution. The focus on implementation makes it relevant."

John Gillespie
ATS Software

"The Summit brings together leaders who are actively making decisions about AI, digitization, and automation. That level of peer perspective is essential when evaluating business change opportunities."

Chris Reynolds
Plumbers & Factory Supplies

"The value of this event is clarity. Innovation can feel overwhelming. This forum helps to define the optimal path so that progress can happen with conviction."

Sally Boyer
NIBCO, Inc.

"The Summit provides an opportunity to step back from daily operations and assess how emerging technologies align with long-term strategy. That reflection is critical for sustainable growth."

What is The Summit?

The Innovation Summit focuses on the technologies reshaping the industry.

Over two days, attendees will explore applied artificial intelligence, digitization and customer intelligence, and robotics through real-world use cases and peer discussion.

This is not a theoretical conference. It is a structured forum centered on application, sequencing, and execution within industry businesses.
